1 Specification

Subject - 0055 is a clear serum that is contained within a glass bottle that holds approximately 30ml. It has a black stopper lid that has a rubber seal. The serum is completely transparent and acts like a normal liquid. There is a label on the outside but it is significantly worn to the point that it appears almost completely white.

2 Containment Procedures

It can be stored at room temperature and should not be heated to avoid the glass bottle cracking. The lower ends of the thermal spectrum have not been tested, so it is not advised to store "The Forever Serum" in these conditions.

3 Behaviour

S-0055 acts similar to a nerve agent, in the way it takes a very small amount of itself to come into contact with human skin for its effects to have consequences. When it is applied to human skin, it does not have any visible ramifications. This is due to the fact that the serum's special ability is to make people "immortal". This so called immortal state does not mean the subject is unkillable, but as of writing this, the only known way to terminate someone is to decapitate them.

Behavioural Assessment 1 S-0055 was applied to inmate [REDACTED] as part of our Alternative to Death Penalty (ADP) scheme. [FURTHER TESTING APPROVED]

Behavioural Assessment 2 S-0055's effects were tested by subjecting [REDACTED] to extreme levels of harm. When put into an induced coma, any wounds were healed almost instantaneously. Furthermore, when injected with a deadly dose of [REDACTED], no issues arose. [FURTHER TESTING APPROVED]

Behavioural Assessment 3 Almost 90 years after the first assessment, the long term effects were studied on [REDACTED]. Their appearance had not changed since the last photo from 90 years beforehand, and their physique was identical as well. This gives us suspicion that this serum is preventing a normal cause of death. [FURTHER TESTING APPROVED]

Behavioural Assessment 4 After given clearance to terminate inmate [REDACTED], any form of lethal injection was found to be worthless. When given "The Giver of Time" [See S-0022], they were aged approximately 300 years. An interesting side note was that it seemed after experiencing 300 years of time, [REDACTED] had reached full brain capacity and was incapable of retaining information. A solution was found through decapitation, giving a clue that S-0055 must affect the brain. [TESTING CONCLUDED]

4 Origination

Not much is known about the origination of this serum. It was found in the unusual way of it being posted to Facility 13 in 2013 from an anonymous sender. The label on the glass bottle was carbon dated and found to be just over 2 years old, but it is unclear whether the serum and the bottle were produced at the same time. After the destruction of Facility 13, 20 years later, it was relocated to Facility [REDACTED].
